Clark Regional facing discrimination lawsuit

Former employee of Powell Clinic claims gender discrimination;
believed to be first of its kind in the county

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

A former employee of the Powell County Clinic has filed a lawsuit against the clinic's parent company claiming gender discrimination and that their relatives were refused treatment after they were released from employment. The allegations came to light in a seven page suit filed last Thursday in the Powell Circuit Court.

Boyd Patrick, a former customer service desk clerk at the Powell County Clinic for over 12 years, claims in his lawsuit that there was "gender discrimination, sexual harassment and retaliation" against him at the clinic. The clinic is a part of the Clark Regional Medical Center, which changed hands last year. The hospital and the clinic are now run by Lifepoint Hospitals based in Brentwood, Tennessee.

Patrick began his career at Clark Regional on May 28, 1989 and was transferred to work at the clinic on Dec. 15, 1998. According to his suit he "assumed his duties and performed admirably as evidenced by numerous citations and letters from patients and personnel." However, he claimed that the friendly atmosphere changed about six years ago.

At that time new personnel came on board at the clinic, according to Patrick's suit. The parties involved, including a supervisor, "began a course of conduct to humiliate him," Patrick claims. He states in the suit that comments about being a "male" and that some of the staff "hated men" were made. At one point Patrick claims that he was told it "did not take a brain surgeon to do" his job and that an "all female staff" would get along better.

The suit claims that before the new staff members became a part of the clinic there were eight men who worked there. Since then Patrick claims that he was the last man to work there before being wrongfully dismissed with the exception of a male housekeeper who was hired. Patrick claims that the housekeeper is an acquaintance of the supervisor in question. Patrick states that some of the other men left because of the "discrimination."

Patrick also claims that staff members accused him of "trying to play doctor" and tried to get him to "voluntarily quit his employment."

Patrick states in the suit that he filed a grievance and complaint with Clark Regional on Nov. 3, 2009 about the treatment he alleges he was receiving. However, he felt that nothing was done to address the situation. He then states that six weeks after filing the complaint he received a written reprimand "alleging false facts."

The suit claims that Patrick did request and get several meetings with supervisors in which he complained about the treatment he was receiving. He alleges he was told if he did not like the treatment he could leave.

About six weeks following those meetings, on April 28, 2010, Patrick was discharged from employment. He states that the allegation of "failure of a drug test" was not true. The suit states he was released for "misconduct connected with the work."

Stanton man charged with wanton endangerment in a hit-and-run accident

By JAMES COOK

A disagreement led to a Stanton man being arrested, while another was taken to the hospital after being run over by a vehicle. Robert Landers Crowe has been charged with first degree wanton endangerment and leaving the scene of an accident. Isaac Barnett was reportedly taken to Clark Regional Medical Center with a possible broken femur and various other injuries.

The altercation occurred last Thursday evening in the parking lot of Baker's Apartments across from the Save-A-Lot store and next door to Airport Market. Crowe, 23, was in his vehicle and was in an argument with Barnett, according to police reports. Barnett was "hanging" on to the passenger window when Crowe allegedly drove off at a "high rate of speed" according to reports.

Barnett apparently fell from and was run over by Crowe's vehicle. Crowe then allegedly drove to his home on Derickson Lane. When police found

Crowe he reportedly told officers that he drove off quickly because Barnett was "trying to stab his friend in the passenger seat."

Police have not named any other person in the vehicle or involved in the incident. Police also have not stated what the argument was over.

Barnett was taken to the hospital. Crowe was arrested and transported to the Powell County Detention Center. His bond is currently $1,000 cash. Police are still investigating the incident.

California man dies in high speed motorcycle accident on Highway 15

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

State police are investigating a fatal motorcycle accident that happened in Rosslyn last Thursday evening. Police say that at 9:15 p.m. they received a call about an accident on Highway 15 near the Rosslyn/Mountain Parkway overpass. Powell EMS, local and state police were sent to the area.

Officers found that Kyle W. Wolfe, 20 of Pleasanton, California, had wrecked his 2004 Honda motorcycle. The police report from the accident indicates that witnesses saw Wolfe, who was heading southbound, pass a car in a curve.

Wolfe passed the vehicle in the northbound lane going through the Welch's Cut area heading toward Rosslyn. It appeared that he could not negotiate the curve and lost control.

The motorcycle crossed back into the southbound lane according to witnesses and struck the guardrail. The motorcycle came to rest on the road. Powell EMS personnel began treating Wolfe at the scene. Wolfe was pronounced dead at the hospital.

Clarification

In a story last week about charges being dismissed on Carl Wells, Jr. it was listed that Powell County Sheriff Danny Rogers was the witness. The case is actually a state police case, not the sheriff's

The ceremonial tossing of the caps sealed the deal last Sunday as the Class of 2011 bid farewell to Powell County High School. The crowd witnessed 163 students graduate during the ceremonial. The ceremony was highlighted by commencement speaker, Dr. Brent Morris, the PCHS Class of 2000 Valedictorian who has gone on to achieve two degrees and is a medical doctor. He told the graduates about his own road filled with triumphs and tears, but because of a good foundation he received here he was able to build on it and move on. He advised the graduates to do the same. The class also paid tribute to Billy Eversole and Brian Rowland, classmates who lost their lives in a tragic boating accident.

Woman rescued after 30 foot fall in Gorge rappelling accident

An afternoon spent in the Red River Gorge doing a little rappelling turned into a rescue operation on Monday afternoon. The result was a nearly six and half hour rescue and a young woman being taken by helicopter to the UK Medical Center.

Powell County 911 Dispatch center received a call just before 2:30 p.m. stating that a young woman had apparently fallen approximately 30 feet in an area just off Tunnel Ridge Road. Powell County and Wolfe County rescue teams were called out, as were members of the Middlefork and Stanton Volunteer Fire Departments.

According to reports, a hiker in a different group found the young lady, who was in her late teens or early 20's, after she had fallen. The hiker called for help.

When emergency personnel found her, she was awake and talking to them. Radio dispatches indicated she was in a fetal position and had suffered an apparent hip injury, as well as possible head injuries. She also reportedly told the rescuers that she did not remember losing consciousness.

Workers tried to find an easy way to bring the unnamed victim out. At one point emergency personnel came across a tree that had to be cut out of the way to aid in the rescue. Due to the extreme heat, workers had to take turns carrying the basket and victim out of the gorge.

Just before 9 p.m. rescue workers emerged from the area with the young lady. She was transported to the Middlefork Fire Department Helipad, then flown to the UKMC. Her condition was not known and her name had not been released as of early Tuesday morning (press time). At least one rescue worker suffered a minor ankle injury, according to radio reports, but it was minor and his name was not released.

Kentucky WIC Program to begin using EBT cards

The Powell County Health Department will begin using a new upgraded web-based system to issue benefits for the Women, Infants and Children (WIC) Program beginning on June 21.

The web-based system uses information gathered at WIC participant visits to issue Electronic Benefits Transfer (EBT) cards to be used for WIC purchases. Offering the "eWIC" cards gives families the needed access to benefits without the delay and stigma of paper food instruments (checks) which most counties in Kentucky still use.

Under the current system, WIC participants are issued multiple paper food instruments to purchase WIC approved items in authorized stores. All items listed on a food instrument must be purchased at one time or the benefits are lost. With the EBT card a WIC participant has the flexibility of purchasing WIC approved items at any time during the valid period of their benefits. This enhances the shopping experience of all WIC customers by ensuring confidentiality during transactions, allowing the participant to shop for a gallon of milk or loaf of bread without having to make other purchases, and results in a faster and smoother checkout at the retailer.

Many of the retailers' systems will be integrated, meaning participants can swipe their eWIC cards through the same device that accepts credit and debit cards. The retailers will no longer have to manually complete paper food instruments. At checkout the eWIC card will ensure the participant purchases only WIC authorized foods in correct quantities, and removes the margin of cashier error during WIC transactions. There are a few retailers in the area who will accept the new eWIC cards using a separate device at checkout.

There are other WIC EBT pilot projects under way around the country, but Kentucky is serving as the leader in developing and testing the use of on-line integrated technology for WIC EBT. This project was first piloted in the Barren River District and will continue to expand statewide to approximately 139,000 WIC participants.

WIC is a short-term intervention program designed to influence lifetime nutrition and health behavior in low income women who are pregnant or gave birth and children 5 years old and younger who need nutritional help. Funded by the USDA, WIC offers nutrition education and services; breastfeeding promotion and education; monthly food prescription of nutritious foods; and access to other maternal, prenatal and pediatric health-care services. For qualification guidelines, please call the Powell County Health Department at 606-663-4360.

Boswell signs to play softball at Alice Lloyd

Lady Pirates catcher Megan "Boz" Boswell signed last week to play for Alice Lloyd College. Boswell led the team this year in batting average and hit her first career home run in a game against Hazard. She was named to the 56th District All-Tournament Team and the 14th Region All-Tournament Team this year. Her prowess and arm behind the plate actually changed some teams' strategy when it came to stealing bases, as Boswell at one time had thrown out nearly 75 percent of those who tried to steal a base.

Direct deposit can make sure Social Security is not delayed

By Russ Russell

Social Security District Manager in Lexington

Hurricane season is here for many parts of the country. In other areas of the nation, it's wildfire season. As you prepare for the threat of a natural disaster in your community, put signing up for Direct Deposit at the top of your "to do" list. Doing so can eliminate the delay or non-delivery of your monthly payment if a disaster forces you from your home.

For years, Direct Deposit has been the safest, fastest and easiest way for people to receive their payments — and it still is the best way to get benefit payments for people who have a bank account. Here's why.

Direct Deposit is safe. Your money is deposited directly into your account at your bank or other financial institution. Because it's transferred electronically, there's never a risk of your check being lost or stolen.

Direct Deposit is quick. You'll get your payment faster when it's deposited directly into your bank account. Your money is immediately available to you once it's deposited.

Direct Deposit is convenient. No more standing in line at the bank to cash your check, or leaving your house when the weather is bad. It's nice to know your payment is safely in your bank account instead of the mailbox when you're out of town or, worse, displaced from your home by a disaster.

For those who don't have a bank account, there's Direct Express. With Direct Express, we automatically deposit benefit payments to a person's Direct Express card account. The card can be used to make purchases, pay bills or get cash at thousands of locations, and most services are free. To learn more or to sign up for Direct Express, visit www.fms.treas.gov/directexpresscard.

To learn more about Direct Deposit of your benefit payments, and to sign up, visit our website at www.socialsecurity.gov/deposit. You also can call us at 1-800-772-1213 (TTY 1-800-325-0778).

SUIT: Man claims gender discrimination at clinic

he was "not guilty of misconduct in the work and granted unemployment payments" to him. Neither Clark Regional nor the Powell Clinic had personnel present to present any proof to "substantiate the allegation of misconduct," according to the suit.

Patrick then claims that the clinic "systematically" refused to treat family members of his. That includes emergency services, he alleges.

Patrick states that a hostile work environment existed. Following his termination he states that he suffered from loss of income, loss of employment rights and suffered from anxiety, fear and depression the last six years of his employment with the company.

He is asking for the court to have Clark regional pay him for actual losses, including wages and benefits, as well as other pecuniary losses.

These types of lawsuits only give one side of the story. The Times did call Clark Regional Medical center on Monday. The hospital's marketing department advised that they do not comment on pending litigation. No court date has been set for the case.

PCHS Student of the Year

Charlene Helton is the 2011 PTO Senior Student of the Year at Powell County High School. Charlene was one of four seniors to graduate summa cum laude at last Sunday's graduation ceremony. The other students graduating with highest honor were Corri Collins, Liz Combs, and Joey Ferryman.

At the recent Honors Night celebration at the high school, in addition to the Student of the Year Award, Charlene received the PTO Scholarship, the Kentucky Auxiliary Amvets Statewide Award, the Powell County Alumni Award, the Clark Regional Medical Scholarship, the Principal Leadership Award and Scholarship, and the Math Department Award. Charlene was also a participant in the Governor's Scholar Program last summer, and recipient of the Eagle Excellence Award and Valedictorian Scholarship from Morehead State University where she will begin her college career this fall studying nursing.

Throughout her high school years, Charlene has displayed extensive leadership qualities and volunteering practices, and from her experiences she has created a positive impact not only on her fellow students, but also on many people in the community. She played volleyball for Coach Ken Jones and the Lady Pirates for two years.

She has been active in many clubs and organizations, serving as secretary of the Beta Club during her junior year.

As a member of HOSA (Health Occupations Students of America), she helped organize canned food drives to help supply a local food pantry, and she has worked at the Stanton Nursing Home as part of Shannon Foster's Advanced Health Care Fundamentals class.

As a member of the Nada Baptist Mission Church, she has helped paint houses for people in need, and has helped sponsor a child in Nicaragua.

The point of view expressed by PCHS Library Media Specialist Suzy Brown reflects the opinion held by many students and staff at the high school, and many people in the community her know her well:

"Charlene and I have become acquainted during her senior year at PCHS. I was able to observe her throughout the year during tutoring sessions in the library. She patiently shared her knowledge of math with one of her fellow students while also showing him kindness and respect," Brown said.

"Charlene's level of maturity is unmatched by many of her classmates. She has accepted responsibilities that are often reserved for adults. Charlene has been presented with challenges and faced hardships that have only seemed to make her stronger. She has set high goals and is working tirelessly to achieve these goals," she added. "I'm pleased that Charlene has been chosen as PTO's Student of the Year. I'm sure that her intelligence, pleasant personality and strong determination will guarantee her success. Charlene is setting an example for her peers as well as for those of us who are cheering her on."

I'm just saying . . . Remember when veggies were good and Smurfs were, well. . . just Smurfs

JAMES COOK
Times Editor

Maybe it's just me, but things definitely are not like they used to be. I know things change and that is a good thing I suppose. But some things need to stay the same. It helps to create sanity in an insane world.

Need some examples? Ok.

- Do you remember being afraid of eating cucumbers or tomatoes out of the garden, or even from the local grocery store? Of course you don't. Back when we were younger, you could pick one, wipe it off and eat away. Or bring it home and start munching down if you wanted to. But nowadays we have to wonder if it came from Europe and whether or not it has bacteria that may kill us.

Now I love cucumbers, but I have to think twice. And why are we worried about veggies in Europe? I prefer to get mine from a good old American farmer out of a good old American field. Not being a hater, but our farmers need support and I like to eat.

- Enough said.
- Ever remember going to the family doctor, when you had to go, and they actually listened to you? Heck, they even knew all about your health and other aspects of your life, because they cared and listened. And you actually got to talk to YOUR doctor.

Now days it is almost like your nothing but a number. They hurry you through, give you quick answers and move a long. Recently I had a "routine follow up" that seemed more like a pit stop at a NASCAR race. It was not my doctor, but someone else I guess filling in.

Now I know doctors are busy and with more and more leaving the business, that means the few remaining have a bigger work load. But some people may save up those aches and pains, questions and issues until that "routine follow up." I know they have an important stressful job. But slow down a little, I don't bite – usually.

- Remember when child actors played roles that were either funny or in a serious movie it was to jerk on those heart strings? I recently read where the young actress from the remake of True Grit, Hailee Steinfeld, will be making a "Romeo and Juliet" movie soon. In the movie, the director, Jullian Fellowes, wants to stay as "true to Shakespeare" as he can, according to the press in England. He also wants Steinfeld because she would be the right age. She is 14.

I can understand that part.

But the script that the press has seen has the young couple getting naked and having a love scene. I do NOT remember that in my literature classes. I am pretty sure I would have paid more attention.

Why are we allowing such things to happen? If your next door neighbor does this they go to jail for child pornography, but if a director does it suddenly it is art or entertainment.

I . . . Don't . . . Think . . . So!

All this started with Brooke Shields being filmed nude when she was 12 for the movie "Pretty Baby." It needs to end now.

Besides, "Gnomeo and Juliet" is a better adaptation anyway.

- Can you remember when the only reason politicians apologized was because they may have voted on a bill that their constituents did not like?

Now we have them apologizing for everything from kickbacks to infidelity to sending provocative pictures of themselves to college girls.

Just look at New York Congressman Anthony Weiner. He denied sending photos of hmslf to anyone, saying his Tweeter account (whatever that is) was hacked. By the time the man married to an aide to Secretary of State Hillary Clinton came clean, so to speak, he admitted to sending the photos to several

Kind of makes you a little nostalgic for the days of illegal taping and padding the old pockets doesn't it? (Hint for those who take this too literally, that last sentence was sarcasim, which I am fluent in.)

Seriously, if we can't trust those who run the country to be honest, how can we trust them to run the country?

- Remember the Smurfs? Those little blue "make believe" (note the words make believe) characters that were a part of Saturday morning cartoon fun and that little tune they hummed became as well known as the Oscar Mayer bologna song.

They were a small group that worked together for the good of their "make believe" community. Now I will say a character or two concerned me. Plus the fact a little old Smurf ran the place and there was only one female Smurf was little weird, but overall it was a cartoon.

According to a press report Antoine Buéno, a French sociologist, thinks the Smurfs are evil. The report from the Wall Street Journal quotes Buéno as saying, "The Smurfs do not have private property; their leader is Papa Smurf who shows very authoritarian and paternalistic characteristics."

In the report "Buéno also makes the connection that the little blue men's biggest enemy, the magician Gargamel, seems to have a Jewish background, citing similarities to the anti-Semitic images of the World War II era. The French writer also claims that the Smurfs do not just resemble Nazis, but sexist Nazis to boot! Smurfette, traditionally the only woman living in the Smurf's village, allegedly meets the Aryan ideal of beauty with her blonde hair and refined features." He also claims that since when Smurfs get sick they turn black that they are racists too.

Nazi, sexists, racists. . . really? Did someone not get to watch

Thundercats because a smaller sibling liked the Smurfs?

Somebody has too much time on their hands and not enough common sense apparently. I mean really, they are Smurfs! They don't exist! It's a cartoon! You would think a sociologist in France would have more important things to study besides blue, make believe cartoon characters.

Maybe we can get back to the days of simplicity in areas where common sense should rule and handling the more complex issues with understanding, prayer and even more common sense. Seems like a good solution to me, but you think about it a while.

Meanwhile, I'll be watching the Smurfs, eating a cucumber while looking through the Yellow Pages for doctors. Oooh look, the Smurfs in 3D movie comes out in July. Ahhhh, the good old days.

I'm just saying . . .

Editorial Clarification: Confusing situations can lead to misunderstandings

We thought we would take this opportunity to make a clarification. In recent weeks we have had editorials about the county judge executive post that is vacant due to the passing of Jim Potts. In the days following his death there was some confusion over how the post would be filled. Not just by those speculating but by other sources, including this newspaper.

In those editorials we mentioned we received information from the attorney general's office. That "information" was the statute we quoted two weeks ago and then Section 152 of the Kentucky Constitution. The latter was somewhat confusing, even to our attorneys, at first. That is what we based the editorials on, the statute.

Since those editorials people have stated that we tried to make the attorney general's office look as if they gave us the wrong information. We do not feel as if we did that at all.

So let us be clear, in simple English. The attorney general's office gave us the proper statutes we asked for when we asked about the situation. The statutes are what they are, how you read or interpret them is another thing. Our main contention was we disagreed with the law, not those who enforce it. Now we have a better understanding and hopefully so do you.

There may have been some confusion on our part, but at no time did we believe we were implying that anyone gave us bogus information and in the future we will strive to seek a simpler answer from such sources. After all we are supposed to be the ones who inform you, the reader, of the news. If we get confused, it is hard to relay that information. Besides, there has only been one perfect person ever.

We hope this clears up any misconceptions. or misunderstandings. However, rest assured we will continue to strive to bring you the news you want and need to know.

Powell County Democratic Committee

I, Charles E. Faulkner, Sr., am requesting consideration for the vacancy left for the Powell County Judge Executive's office after the untimely passing of Judge Jim Potts.

I will not waste your time with defining my dedication to the Democratic Party. That being said, the 2010 Primary results reflect a census of voters' opinion.

Listed below are the 2010 Primary Election results of the Powell County Judge Executive Race:

Jim Potts	1109
Charles Faulkner	835
James Anderson	807
Delbert Brown	799

Popular vote determined that Jim Potts would occupy the office of Powell County Judge Executive. Unfortunately, Judge Potts could not fulfill the obligations bestowed upon him by the Citizens of Powell County. So, I am now requesting the Powell County Democratic Committee members to honor the voice of the public as the 2010 Primary Election results convey and appoint me as the Democratic Candidate to represent my party in the General Election in November 2011.

If you should need to contact me, please do not hesitate to call (606) 663-4771. Your consideration will be appreciated.

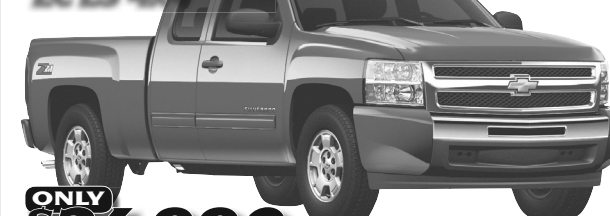

Thank you,

/s/ Charles E. Faulkner

Lady Pirates bring home region runner-up title, fall 3-2 in finals

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

It was not the outcome they had hoped for, but the Powell County Lady Pirates had gone farther than some people expected them to go.

With only two seniors and three juniors on the roster, the young Powell team made it to the 14th Regional Tournament Championship Game last Wednesday. But four errors and silent bats hurt the Lady Pirates. Powell fell to Letcher Central 3-2 to end an unforgettable season.

Powell, behind the pitching of freshman right-hander Nikki Wells, took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning. Shaylan Mays reached base on a one out single to left field. Ashleigh Bolduc singled to left and Kayla Goodwin drew a base on balls to load the bases with only one out.

Mays scored on a single by Kelly Gibson. But the Lady Pirates could do no more damage. Kenzi Barnett struck out and Whitney Cook hit a pop fly to third to end the inning. Powell had two more runners on in the second with one out. But once again the Lady Pirates came up empty handed.

The game became a pitchers duel between Wells and Lady Cougar eighth grader Makaley Johnson. While Wells picked up eight strikeouts and scattered three hits, Johnson picked up two strikeouts and had Powell hitting pop flies and ground balls.

In the top of the third Letcher mounted an attack. Micca Boggs hit a short fly ball to center field with one out. Goodwin and Powell right fielder Allison Watson collided, both hitting the ground. Boggs picked up a single, but with her speed and the error that followed, reached third base. One out later, Lisa Frazier singled to right center then went to second on another error. Boggs scored to tie the game 1-1.

Still with two outs a fly ball by Seanna Coots to right field looked to end the inning. But it was misplayed allowing Frazier's courtesy runner, Katlyn Creech, to score. Another error on the throw in the infield allowed Coots to score. Letcher held a 3-1 lead.

Both sides' bats fell silent until the bottom of the sixth inning. Barnett reached base on an error and went to second on a sacrifice bunt by Cook. Watson singled to left field scoring Barnett to make it a 3-2 game.

Powell challenged again in their final at bat as the excitement grew for both sides. Mays opened the inning with a single to right field. A pop up in the infield by Bolduc and a fly ball to left by Goodwin gave the Lady Pirates two outs.

Gibson was then hit by a pitch to make it first and second with two outs. But Johnson got Barnett on a questionable outside strike to end the game. Letcher Central won the game, 3-2.

Powell's Goodwin, Wells and Megan Boswell made the all tournament team. Wells had quite the tournament pitching three straight days in 90 degree heat. She struck out 17 batters, gave up 10 hits and five runs. None of the runs were earned. Both Goodwin and Boswell were 3-for-10 and played their positions very well.

"I'm proud of them. No one expected us to go this far and they played hard," Lady Pirates Coach Dave Faulkner said after the heart-breaking loss. "They have nothing to be down about. They did great."

Powell ended the season with a 20-17 record.

Pirates upset by Letcher Central, 7-2, in 14 Region semi-finals

By GREG MCINTOSH
Times Sportswriter

The Powell County Pirate Baseball team going into the season was considered the favorite to win the 14th Region title. All through the season the Pirates beat all the competition in the region and going into the 14th Regional Tournament they were still thought to be the best team.

With expectations high Powell crushed Wolfe County in the first round of the regional tournament. The win set up a game with Letcher County Central in the semifinals. Powell defeated Letcher easily during the regular season. But the Cougars were out to avenge that loss and advance to the region finals.

The Cougars clawed their way into the finals, knocking off the top ranked Pirates. Letcher County Central won 7-2.

The Pirates sent Morgan Reed to the mound to keep the Cougars in check. In the top of the first Letcher was put down in order after getting a runner on base.

The Pirates lead off man Elliot Hale singled to left field and went to second when the Cougar fielder bobbled the ball. Hale promptly stole third base. Cody Morton then singled with one out to score the game's first run.

Both teams were held scoreless in the second inning. The Cougars got on the board in the third with a run. With one out, Dallas Adams was hit by Reed to get on base. Adams went to second on a wild pitch. Reed got Caleb Baker to hit the ball on the ground but the Pirates could not field the ball cleanly, allowing Adams to score from second base. The Pirates failed to score in the bottom of the inning. The score after three innings was tied 1-1.

In the top of the fourth, Letcher's Tanner Sexton was hit by a pitch and Jordan Short singled to put runners on the corners with no outs. Powell County drew in the infield to stop the run, but a ground ball scored Sexton for the Cougars. Reed got the Letcher batter out to end the rally.

The Pirates Jon Mays lead off the bottom of the inning with a walk and Letcher switched pitchers quickly. Morgan Reed attempted a sacrifice bunt and reached base on an error by the Cougars.

Powell had runners on first and second with no outs. Joey Johnson hit a line drive right at the Letcher second baseman for the first out. The next two Powell hitters struck out to end the inning. Letcher led 2-1 after four innings.

Letcher again scored a single run in the top of the fifth with a walk and two base hits and Powell changed pitchers. The Pirates brought in Jon Mays to stop the Cougars and he did. The Cougars now led 3-1 going to the bottom of the fifth inning. Powell again could not get anything going in the bottom of the inning. Both teams were unable to score in the sixth inning. Letcher exploded for four runs in the top of the seventh inning to take a 7-1 lead with Powell down to its last three outs.

Powell refused to go quietly, Elliot Hale reached base on an error, Cody Morton walked and Frank Spencer also reached on an error. Hale scored to make the score 7-2 with two outs; Letcher got a strikeout to end the game and the season for the Pirates. Powell finished the season with an outstanding record of 26-9.

Sweet Summertime

By SARAH BLOOM
Times Lifestyle Columnist

When the sun begins to linger longer in the evenings, prolonging its dip into the horizon, you know it is near.

When the smell of burning charcoal and the sound of splashing water fill the air, you know it is here. When those busy school day mornings turn into calm awakenings, you know you are there... summertime.

There is probably no other more liberating phrase in a school-aged child's vocabulary than "summer break". My son Levi said that it was "like total freedom, and it is good to be free!"

Some things about summer are timeless. Cold glasses of lemonade, playing with the water hose, melting ice cream cones and dripping watermelon are just a few of the staples of this season made for fun.

I can remember, as a young girl, the evenings were always the best no matter where you were. After a long, hot summer day in Kentucky, the evenings held their own measure of intrigue and peace, beckoning like a cool oasis. Besides the irritation of mosquitoes, the relaxed atmosphere was like no other.

Many summer nights of my childhood were spent lying outside on my trampoline staring up at the sky. My friends and I spent countless hours there, dreaming out loud and counting stars.

We discovered one evening that if you threw a rock up in the air the hovering bats would dive and swoosh toward them, apparently mistaking them for bugs. It was all fun and games until they began to dip a little too low then we were forced to lie very still until they lost interest.

One important job that has been a part of my summers is helping to plant and tend to a garden. Though not always an enjoyable task, it has always been a necessary one. As a girl I can remember dreading the days when momma would say we had to go to Papaw's to pick beans. I hated that job, and still do to this day.

We would try to get there early as to beat the hottest part of the day, but to me it did not matter. I detested the way those old green bean vines felt, hairy and sticky, no matter the time of day. But I knew resistance was futile and only earned me some unwanted trouble, so I suffered in silence.

On the other hand I actually enjoyed breaking beans and still do. I can sit and break beans for hours and not really be bothered. There is something about it that I find quite relaxing.

I think my boys have already discovered their most hated garden job and that is ridding the potato plants of "tater" bugs. My mom is my number one babysitter and during the summer months she puts their young backs to work by having them squash the pesky nuisances off the plants. They also get in their fair share of bean picking.

Mom has an average of six children in her care while school is out so she utilizes the extra help when picking time rolls around. They may grumble and complain, but when they are putting those extra helpings of fresh cooked green beans on their plates they have nothing but smiles.

I have also spent many hot, summer days working in a tobacco field. I can remember watching my mom and my aunts riding on a setter planting tobacco on my Granny's farm in Mt. Sterling. The children would follow behind just in case they dropped a plant or if one did not get placed into the ground far enough.

As I got older I dated a boy whose family had several tobacco fields and so we spent many days together working. We would plant floatation beds, set row after row, and eventually I even tried my hand at cutting, though I am the first to admit I was not very proficient at that trade. I probably whacked up more than I actually cut correctly.

My mom and I took a job one summer topping tobacco for a local farmer. The work was hard and the days were extremely humid especially since the hot, sticky tobacco plants stood well above both of our heads. But when that old farmer placed our pay in the palm of our hands I think we were both well pleased with ourselves. In hindsight it was probably the hardest money I have ever earned.

For every tasking and tedious job there is to be done during the summer there is an equally enjoyable benefit. Raising a garden may be hard work, but when you get to sit down at Sunday afternoon dinner and eat a fresh, sweet ear of corn or slice a nice big tomato it is well worth it. Those pesky green beans even make up for their trouble when cooked up with some pork fat and accompanied by a slice of garden onion.

I am always thankful for the change of seasons and wondrous power of our Lord. He provides for us equally in some way with each shift. Spring is a time of renewal and birth, a welcomed refreshment after the long winter months. Summer is a time of rest, growth and harvest all wrapped into one. Fall is a time for new beginnings with the start of schools and colleges, and thankfulness for fresh hopes and dreams. Winter is a time for preparation and planning.

Then, with the spring thaw, the cycle starts all over again. We are so blessed to be under the care of such an awesome God and one passage of scripture lays it all out so beautifully:

"To everything there is a season, a time for every purpose under heaven: A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck what is planted; a time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down, and a time to build up; a time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance; a time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing; a time to gain, and a time to lose; a time to keep, and a time to throw away; a time to tear, and a time to sew; a time to keep silence, and a time to speak; a time to love, and a time to hate; a time of war, and a time of peace." Ecclesiastes 3:1-8

Heat strokes and summer heat affects kids

Kentucky Department for Public Health Commissioner William Hacker, M.D., joined representatives from Safe Kids and other advocates at the Capitol today to unveil the elements of a national education and awareness campaign to help reduce child vehicular deaths caused by heat stroke. The event comes on the heels of a weekend tragedy in Louisville in which a 2-year-old died after being left in a hot car.

According to Safe Kids, two additional child vehicular deaths (in Texas and Louisiana) have already occurred in 2011. Last year, the worst year on record, 49 children in the U.S. died from heat stroke while unattended in vehicles. From 1998-2010, at least 494 deaths are known to have occurred nationally. In Kentucky, there have been 13 deaths attributed to vehicular hyperthermia during the same time period and one death every year since 2004.

"The tragedy in Louisville illustrates the continued need for awareness and action on this issue. We want our citizens to understand the dangers of extremely hot cars and not to leave children in vehicles," said Hacker. "Not only is this an issue of caretaker neglect, but we must advocate against leaving children unattended in vehicles – particularly in warmer months when cars can heat up quickly – as a means of ensuring the child's health and well-being."

The Safe Kids USA network is composed of 600 coalitions and chapters around the country, including in Kentucky. The "Never Leave Your Child Alone in a Car" program will unite and mobilize a wide range of partners – police and fire, hospitals, government agencies, child care centers, businesses and others – to share with parents and other caregivers prevention messages to address the dangers to children in vehicles. The program will include an advertising campaign of billboards, print ads, web banners and radio announcements as well as tip sheets. The materials will be available in both English and Spanish.

"The loss of a child due to hyperthermia is a horrific tragedy that, sadly, we are seeing every year in this state," said Dr. Susan Pollack, M.D., pediatrician and coordinator for Kentucky's State Safe Kids Coalition. "We are working to raise awareness of the fact that children should never be left unattended in a vehicle. Parents and caregivers need to take steps to ensure that children cannot gain entrance to vehicles on their own by locking their cars and teaching children never to play in vehicles. It's also important to realize that more than half the deaths occur when everyday working people have a change in morning routine, so the prevention tips that follow are important to put in place. If your child is missing, checking the vehicle first may save a life."

Several measures are recommended to prevent these types of deaths from occurring. As part of the national campaign, Safe Kids is recommending:

- Create reminders. More than half of child heat stroke deaths occur because parents and caregivers become distracted and exit their vehicle without their child. To help prevent these tragedies parents can:

- Place a cell phone, PDA, purse, briefcase, gym bag or something that is needed at your next stop on the floor in front of a child in a backseat. This will help you see your child when you open the rear door and reach for your belongings.

- Set the alarm on your cell phone as a reminder to you to drop your child off at day care.

- Set your computer calendar program to ask, "Did you drop off at day care today?" Establish a plan with your day care that if your child fails to arrive within an agreed upon time, you will be called. Be especially mindful of your child if you change your routine for day care.

- Don't underestimate the risk. The inside of vehicles can quickly heat up, even on relatively cool days, so you should never leave your child alone in a car. Don't underestimate the risks and leave them even "just for a minute."

- Lock cars and trucks. Thirty percent of the recorded heat stroke deaths in the U.S. occur because a child was playing in an unattended vehicle. These deaths can be prevented by simply locking the vehicle doors to help assure that kids don't enter the vehicles and become trapped.

- Immediately dial 911 if you see an unattended child in a car. EMS professionals are trained to determine if a child is in trouble. The body temperature of children rises three to five times faster than adults. As a result, children are much more vulnerable to heat stroke. Check vehicles and trunks first if a child is missing.

For more information on preventing child heat stroke deaths, please visit www.ggweather.com/heat and www.safekids.org/nlyca.

ENCOURAGING WORD: GRACIOUS LIVING IS BENEFICIAL

CCT Guest Columnist

deal of attention to them. Occasionally, I may glance over those columns, but I do not believe that signs of the zodiac based upon the position of the planets and stars is one of the more significant influences upon human life. To me, there are other things that are far more important, and I believe they have a far greater determining

Apparently, horoscopes are important to some people. At least, many newspapers have regular columns devoted to them, and these columns seem to have a substantial number of devoted readers. Although these columns are prominently featured in the newspapers I read, I do not pay a great influence upon human life.

Yet, on one occasion, a horoscope entry in one of the newspapers I read every day caught my attention. So, I read it, and after reading it, I made myself a note. It said, "Today, the only Full Moon all year in your sign is taking place. Naturally, this could set up tension and conflict between you and others. Consider this an opportunity to demonstrate grace under pressure."

But I don't need a sign of the zodiac to tell me to demonstrate grace under pressure. Tension and conflict can develop at any time, and it can develop over almost anything. On a daily basis, life gives one ample opportunities to demonstrate grace under pressure.

Showing kindness, courtesy, charm, mercy, and compassion are the elements of gracious living, and opportunities to be gracious are always present in everyday life. Therefore, one does not have to wait until life is under pressure to be gracious. At all times and under all circumstances, there are ample opportunities to live graciously and reveal attractiveness and pleasing qualities.

Living graciously is worthwhile. As far back as twenty-five hundred years ago, it had already become proverbial that gracious living is beneficial, and anyone can benefit from it. That proverbial bit of wisdom says, "A kindhearted (or gracious person) gains respect."

MASTER COMMISSIONER’S SALES

June 11, 2011

Pursuant to and in compliance with the Judgment and Order of Sale of the Powell Circuit Court, the Commissioner will offer for sale at public outcry, to the highest and best bidder on June 11, 2011, beginning at the hour of 9:00 a.m. local time, at the Courthouse Door, Stanton, Kentucky property described in the action set out below. Said property shall be sold to raise the amounts hereinafter set forth, together with interest and the costs of the action, and upon the following terms and conditions.

(A) At the time of sale the successful bidder shall either pay cash or make a deposit of ten (10%) percent of the purchase price with the balance on credit for thirty (30) days UNLESS OTHERWISE SHOWN AT THE END OF A PARTICULAR SALE. Or the purchaser shall have the privilege of paying all or a greater portion thereof than ten percent (10%) at the date of purchase or of prepaying the balance of the purchase price with accrued interest. In the event the successful bidder desires or elects to credit the balance, he or she will be required to post bond and furnish an acceptable surety thereon. Said bond shall be for the unpaid purchase price and bear interest at the rate of twelve (12%) percent per annum from the date of sale until paid. The bond shall have the force and effect of a judgment in order to secure the payment of the balance of the purchase price and said bond shall constitute a prior and superior lien on the property until paid. No bond or earnest money shall be required in the event that the Plaintiffs hereto shall be the purchasers and the bid is less than their adjudged lien.

(B) The purchasers shall be required to assume and pay all taxes or assessments upon the property for the current tax year and all subsequent years. All taxes or assessments upon the property for prior years shall be paid from the sale proceeds.

(C) The property shall otherwise be sold free and clear of any right, title and interest of all parties to the action and of their liens and encumbrances there on, and all existing liens recorded after the recording of the plaintiff’s Lis Pendens Notice; excepting and subject to however, easements, restrictions, stipulations and covenants of record in the Powell County Court Clerk’s office, any facts which an inspection and accurate survey of the property may disclose.

(D) Purchasers shall not be entitled to the possession of the real estate until the Court’s confirmation of the sale and the payment in full of the purchase price and delivery of the deed unless the Plaintiff’s are the purchasers.

(E) Risk of loss of the improvements of the real property shall pass to the purchaser or purchasers at the time of sale. The successful bidders may, from the date of sale until the purchase price is fully paid, carry fire and extended coverage insurance on the improvements on such property to the extent of the court appraised value of said improvements or the unpaid balance of the purchase price, whichever is less, with a loss clause payable to the Master Commissioner of the Powell Circuit Court.

(F) Upon default of the payment of the deposit or posting of bond by the purchaser, the Master Commissioner shall immediately re-sell the property upon the same terms and conditions set out herein.

(G) If the total purchase price is not paid in cash, the ten percent (10%) deposit made by the purchaser shall be applied to any expenses incurred by a default of the purchaser.
